

The arrangement of the notes on the staff reflects the construction of the piece and should not be taken as an indication of hand distribution.

